LETS COLLABORATE

Kacie's approach to her work is rooted in collaboration over competition. She believes in fostering a supportive community of death care professionals who prioritize compassion and empathy.

Her mantra, "Making peace with your mortality can lead to a more meaningful life," reflects her deep understanding of the profound impact end-of-life care can have on individuals and families.

Currently, Kacie is gearing up to launch the Death Doula School, where she hopes to train thousands of compassionate and skilled death doulas to continue her mission of helping people die better.

CLIENT FEEDBACK

"Kacie was such an asset to my family and I as we navigated the final weeks of my cousins life. She was instrumental in getting Hospice care into the home. I only wish we found her sooner, she made everything better."

-Mandi B.

"Kacie is incredibly educated and passionate about what she does. I am lucky have had her as a teacher and mentor."

-Sarah T.
